How to Deduct Expenses of Earning Income

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of 14 authoritative easy-to-follow articles in NEA's annual Income Tax Primer, made famous by the late S. Burton Heath. This year's Primer has been revised by Richard A. Mullens, a ranking Washington tax expert, creator of a widely-supported average tax plan, and graduate of the same training course that's given the federal agents who scan your return. As in all other years, it's been prepared in consultation with Bureau of Internal Revenue experts and shows the wage-earning taxpayers how to handle every item of his return with the least effort—and greatest accuracy.

By Richard A. Mullens

The law permits you to deduct certain expenses incurred in earning your income.

These are divided into two classes.

1. Expenses which can only be deducted in Item 2, page 1, of Form 1040.

2. Expenses which can only be deducted as a miscellaneous deduction on page 3 of form 1040 provided you do not use the tax table or the standard deduction.

This means that you not only have to know what expenses are deductible, but you also must know where to deduct them.

This article will tell you what expenses are in the first class and may be deducted on page 1 of the Form. In Article No. 12, those expenses in the second class will be discussed. Such expenses as union dues and special work clothes are in the second class. They cannot be deducted in Item 2, page 1, of Form 1040.

Only those employees who travel or who are on expense accounts are entitled to deduct certain expenses from their income shown in Item 2, page 1, of Form 1040.

For those of you who travel, this is the rule: When you go away from the city where you usually work, and remain away at least overnight on your employer's business, the cost of your transportation, meals, lodging, tips, business phone calls and similar expenses necessary to your travel and business can be deducted. You cannot deduct laundry and other personal expenses. Nor can a taxpayer who lives in one town and works in another deduct the expenses of traveling back and forth.

For those of you on an expense account, this is the rule: You are entitled to deduct your actual expenses provided your employer's standard deduction. This will be

You are required to attach a list what travel items can be deducted under the above rules. The two blanks printed here will help you list what travel items can be deducted. If you used your car for business purposes, fill in the top blank. Then estimate what per cent of the mileage during 1949 was driven on:

1. Out-of-town business trips where you stayed away at least overnight.
2. Business trips which did not take you away from home overnight.
3. Personal or pleasure driving.

John Public, our imaginary taxpayer, drove 10,000 miles during 1949 of which 1000 was on a one-week trip away from Glenrich to inspect some buildings for his boss. He figures the per cent as follows:

1. Overnight trips—10%
2. Local business trips—0%
3. Personal use—90%.

Now multiply your total-out-of-pocket costs on the top chart by your percentage for deduction for the bottom chart.

The deduction for business trips which did not take you away from home overnights figured in the same way. This amount is NOT explained more fully in Article No. 12.

Expenses for personal use of your car are not deductible.
Now you are ready to figure the rest of your travel expenses while away from home. Put in only those expenses that meet the test stated above. Other legally deductible expenses cannot be taken here, so they will not be considered.

third article, where all of Mr. and Mrs. Public's income items and schedules are reproduced together to show how they are filed.

In Item 3 of Form 1040 is where you report income from any stock you own in a corporation. Most payments you receive on your stocks will be a distribution of the profits of the corporation and must be reported as income. Occasionally a corporation will make a distribution to its stockholders, not out of its profits, but out of its capital or property. Such distributions are rarely taxable. The corporation should tell you if it is paying a dividend out of capital.

All taxable interest received by you during 1949 should be reported in Item 4 of Form 1040. Most interest is taxable. However, if you own any bonds or securities issued by a City or State, the interest on them is not taxable. The interest on many United States bonds issued prior to March 1, 1941 is wholly or partially tax-exempt.

You must report interest on savings and deposit accounts when it is credited to your accounts even though it has not been entered in your bank book. You should report the interest on bond coupons in the year when they become due and payable, even if you don't clip and cash the coupon.

You can report the interest on Defense, War and Savings bonds in either of two ways:

1. Ignore them until you cash them, and then report as interest the entire difference between what you get and what you paid. This is the easiest way.
2. Report the interest each year as it accrues. The amount of interest can be determined from the table on the back of bond. It is the difference between what you paid and what you could cash the bond for on December 31, 1949. Subtract from this any interest you reported on previous returns, and report the rest. Once you start using this method, you cannot change back to the first without getting permission from your Collector.

Chillicothe Has A $100,000 Blaze

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Fire, fed by a 5,000-gallon truckload of gasoline, ranged through the Cooke Sales and Service building here Wednesday.

Unofficial estimates placed the damage at more than $100,000. However, Oscar O. Cooke, operator of the firm, said he couldn't place an exact figure on the loss because records of auto parts were destroyed.

The loss included the gasoline tanker, a new Cadillac convertible, a truck, tractor, a high-lift tractor-loader, between 800 and 900 tires and a large stock of parts.

Four apartments above the main building were saved, but suffered water damage.

One fireman was overcome by smoke. The fire-fighters were hampered by ice in the 9-degree temperature.

The fire started in a car-washing building where employees were using steam to thaw valves of the gasoline tanker so it could be unloaded. Wind carried the flames across a driveway to the main building.

Cooke, former mayor of Chillicothe, is a machinery distributor for a large section of northern Missouri.

Burning Capital Questions:

Will Mrs. Barkley Overtake Mrs. Cafritz?

And Will Margaret be Wed in 1950?
Washington Social Set is All Agog

MRS. CAFRITZ: She loves significant conversation.

MRS. BARKLEY: She might have some ideas of her own.

Miss Nabuco Brazil is involved. Miss Truman Insiders are sure. Miss Morgenstierne Heads are turned.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Thrown into high gear by the holiday spirit, Washington's frantic but fabulous winter social season is off to an inspired start.

Over every cocktail glass you hear it whispered: "The coming months are fraught with the most intriguing possibilities." And from all reports it looks like banner competition for all honors.

Here's a list of the vital issues facing the capital's social set:

Will Mrs. Morris Cafritz manage to hang on to her crown as the town's No. 1 hostess?

What impact will the new wife of Vice President Barkley have on capital society?

Is this the year when a man with the necessary qualifications will claim the hand of Margaret Truman, singer, and daughter of the President?

Which embassy will win the party battle on the diplomatic front?

Will some native Washington lass step forth to bring back to America's possession top debutante honors?

Whether or not Mrs. Cafritz keeps top hostess honors is the top tongue-wagging topic. Wife of the city's wealthiest realtor, she took the honor last spring when her rival, Mrs. Perle Mesta, left to become U.S. Minister to Luxembourg. If Mrs. Cafritz can maintain the same lightning party-throwing pace through the next few months that she set last spring, the crown is hers without question. Mrs. Cafritz herself demurely says this about the situation:

"What is all this silly business about No. 1 hostess? I just entertain because I love to do it. You know, there's more significant conversation in Washington than in any city in the world. I love significant conversation."

Of key importance to the standing of all Washington hostesses is the question of how much party-going and throwing the Veep's new missus decides the Barkleys will do. In order to maintain prestige, a hostess has to produce the Vice President at a fair share of her functions. Before Barkley's marriage, Mrs. Cafritz had no trouble along those lines.

The Veep's budget being willing, however, Mrs. Barkley might have some ideas about cutting a path as a hostess on her own.

Next to Mrs. Truman—who has disqualify herself from the party scene—official protocol designates the Veep's bride as the most socially prominent woman in the city.

Next in fascination as far as cocktail chit-chat goes is the conviction among many insiders that this is the year some eligible man will step forward to claim the hand of Margaret Truman. In two years the "insiders" have had her engaged to two D.C. lawyers, a White House aide, a singer and a newspaperman. Consensus is that one of the D.C. lawyers—unnamed—will win.

Along the same line is the current irritation among ambitious Washington mothers over the manner in which a daughter and niece of two foreign ambassadors have turned the heads of Washington's eligible swains.

These girls are Sylvia Nabuco, niece of the Brazilian ambassador, and Majorie Morgenstierne, daughter of the Norwegian ambassador. Both girls, debs of this season, love parties and are charming and pretty. Most important of all, they are exceedingly popular.

In addition to claiming one of the season's outstanding debs, the Brazilian embassy also is involved in what has narrowed down to a three-way race with the Iranian and French embassies for top entertaining honors on diplomatic row. What they are trying to prove with this sudden burst of party-giving isn't quite clear.

This particular phase of the capital's social struggle is making the inveterate party-goers exceedingly happy. It is their fond hope that none of the contestants drop out any time soon.

No matter how you look at it, prospects are for a very wet winter in Washington.

Prediction of 50 More Years Of 'Cold War' Isn't Pleasant

By Bruce Blossat

The prospect that the "cold war," with its huge cost and high tensions, will continue for at least 50 years is not one to cheer about. Yet that's what Prof. Arnold Toynbee, the eminent British historian, foresees.

Toynbee is the author of a work that strikes deep into the basic nature of human history. He looks at events with the long view. So his comments on future trends inevitably carry weight.

The bright side of his forecast is, of course, that he sees no real likelihood of a shooting war before the year 2000. If his prediction turns out to be sound, the world will have experienced one of the longest periods without war since the middle of the 19th century.

But however grateful the millions of ordinary folk everywhere would be for such an era, they could not contemplate with joy the idea that the coming 50 years are to be a repetition of what the world has known as "peace" since World War II ended.

Toynbee isn't alone in predicting a painful extension of the cold war. Bernard Baruch, America's elder statesman, thinks the same. And so do some of our other statesmen and military leaders.

What they are all saying in effect is that Russia will not use its army to expand its area of control or influence in the world. But the Soviet Union will employ every other device known to man—and undoubtedly many new ones—to achieve its apparent goal of global conquest.

If that is the course Russia does indeed intend to pursue, then the United States and the rest of the free world have no choice but to meet the relentless Soviet pressure with equal weight and determination on the other side.

Let's translate that into practical terms. It means we'll have to keep a bigger army than we'd like to have, for a longer time than we ever imagined would be necessary. It means, furthermore, that we'll have to take the lead in strengthening and coordinating the military forces of other free nations. We'll have to keep our own economy strong, doing our best to avoid paralyzing depression. And no doubt we'll have to continue helping other countries economically for a considerable time. Otherwise they might not be able to resist the corrosive effects of infiltrating communism. That's the outlook, say Toynbee and other far-seeing experts. If they're right, there's no use in our living in hope that an easy, relaxing sort of peace is just around the corner. Tension and strain may well prove to be the normal state for free peoples in the next half century.

Legionnaires 'Tide of Toys' Provides Another Great Christmas Story

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—The world has read a lot of great Christmas stories, from Dickens' Christmas Carol to Heywood Brown's famous column, but this year we have a Christmas story of doing which ranks with any of them.

It's the story of veterans who have fought our wars, led by the American Legion, who don't want to fight any more wars and do want to build up friendship abroad. Recognizing that wars have come in cycles of about every 20 years, they have gone out to woo Europe's children of today—who can be our best friends or the enemy soldiers of tomorrow.

That's one factor behind the "Tide of Toys" campaign, by which American children who can spare an extra toy immediately after Christmas are urged to send it, via the American Legion, to less fortunate children in Europe.

There was a time when the public thought of Legionnaires chiefly in connection with rough-housing at annual conventions. But a new sense of international responsibility and determination to play a part in world diplomacy is growing in the Legion today. And that is one reason why Legionnaires, at this, the busiest time of the year, have been cutting short their holidays to promote what amounts to a friendship train of toys to Europe.

The Tide Flows

Here is how Legionnaires and the public all over the country are putting across the tide of toys: Gen. Lucius Clay's home town, Marietta, Ga., was one of the first to respond, through Commander John Roy, with a pledge of one boxcar of toys. . . . Emperor Hirohito's white horse is being used to collect toys at Nashville, where an admission fee of one toy is being charged to get in to see the famous steed. . . . Harry Warner of Warner Brothers, who so patriotically chairmanned the Friendship Train committee, produced a newsreel telling the story of the "Tide of Toys." . . . Thirty Iowa cities responded immediately to the Legion's call, with Des Moines printing special greeting cards for American children to send to European children. . . . Mayor Mike Di Salle of Toledo, recently returned from Europe, proclaimed "Tide of Toys" week, while chairman Frazier Reams arranged for the schools to be open even during the Christmas holidays, to receive toys.

In Poughkeepsie, N.Y., the Legion used the French Mercier train "40 and 8" boxcar, sent to New York by the people of France, to collect toys. Poughkeepsie Legionnaires have already adopted the town of St. Lo, France, and all toys collected in the Poughkeepsie area will go to St. Lo. . . . Special proclamations were issued by Governors Bowles of Connecticut, McMath of Arkansas, Browning of Tennessee, Tuck of Virginia, urging support for the tide of toys. . . . In Los Angeles, Mayor Fletcher Bowron has decreed this week as "Tide of Toys" week, and chairman Louis Goff of the Los Angeles area has fixed California's goal as "a million toys for a million boys."

Largest Legion post in the world is Omaha's No. 1, with 16,000 members. But Denver's post No. 1, with 10,400 members and second largest in the world, proclaims it will outcollect Omaha. . . . In Merion, Pa., editor Harold Keating is publishing in his Main Line Times the names of each boy and girl who sends a toy to the children of Europe. . . . Wheeling, W. Va., post No. 1, oldest in the United States, got its drive started so early that even on Christmas morning youngsters set aside a toy from under their Christmas trees. . . . In Nashville, post No. 5 is sending toys to the St. Mary's orphanage and the Protestant orphanage for the children to attach notes to and then be forwarded on to Europe. . . . Letters attached to toys can help to start a chain of friendship letters across the Atlantic.

Connecticut Battleground

Most significant political battle of 1950 will be fought in Connecticut where the Republicans are lining up a glamor team to oppose equally glamorous Democratic stars.

On the Republican side, Claire Boothe Luce, blonde authoress, ex-Congresswoman, and wife of the Time-Life publisher, is being groomed to run for the Senate against Brien McMahon, who has done a notable job as chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy committee. Mrs. Luce was an A-1 Congresswoman.

In Connecticut's second senatorial election, Congressman John Lodge, brother of Massachusetts' Henry Cabot Lodge, will probably run against newly appointed Democratic Senator Bill Benton, advertising executive and former assistant secretary of state in charge of Voice of America.

And for governor, the Republicans are grooming the ex-mayor of Hartford, William Mortensen, a popular vote getter, to run against Democratic Governor Chester Bowles, former head of OPA and a Democratic possibility for president or vice president.

Two motives are behind Republican determination to make Connecticut a testing ground in 1950. One is that they want to knock off the ex-OPA chief, who has proved to be so right about price control. The GOP doesn't want the ghost of high prices, led by Bowles, haunting them in 1952. Second, whoever wins Connecticut in 1950, with the governor elected for four years for the first time instead of two, will probably control the state for some time to come.

Merry-Go-Round

When Sherman Minton was a law student, one of his teachers was ex-President William Howard Taft, and after a heated discussion with Minton, Taft remarked: "Well, that's the law and the only way you will be able to change it is to get on the Supreme Court." Minton is now there. . . . The Supreme Court has before it five cases involving the right to picket, of which perhaps the most important is that of John Hughes and Louis Richardson vs. the State of California. Hughes and Richardson picketed one of the Lucky stores in Richmond, in an attempt to induce them to hire Negro employees in proportion to the number of Negroes patronizing the store. The Supreme Court of California issued an injunction banning this picketing. . . . To get the proper background on picketing, the nine old men have gone back through medieval dictionaries to trace its history. . . . Here is an indication of how concerned the American people are with peace: After Leon Pearson had Quaker leader Clarence Pickett as guest on his television broadcast, he got almost as many requests for the Quaker booklet on U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations as another TV show, "Who Said That?" which staged a contest for a free TV set. . . . Tom Morgan, able head of Sperry Gyroscope, was sounded out on taking David Lilienthal's place as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He wasn't interested.

One Cheap Form of Security Is a Draft Law on the Books

Soundings in the capital suggest Congress will be hard to sell on the idea of extending the draft law which expires in 1950. Yet there seem good reasons for approving the three-year renewal the Administration wants.

Naturally Congress hates to enact anything so distasteful to people as a draft law during a political year. The old arguments against "dragging our boys off to military camps" will weigh heavily.

A prime fact for the lawmakers to remember, however, is that existing draft powers are not being used now and probably will not be in the months ahead. The authority is being held in stand-by cold storage while the services fill their requirements through volunteering.

It might be asked: If that is so, why is the law needed?

One answer is that the mere existence of the act is a big spur to enlistments. For until the law was adopted in 1948 volunteers were insufficient to meet minimum military needs.

Secondly, if the authority were allowed to lapse the government could not restore draft machinery to a full working basis in less than four months. Everything we've heard about the likely nature of another war tells us that a four-month lag might be the difference between victory and defeat.

Nobody is claiming war is just over the horizon. On the other hand, no one pretends to know the real aims of our prospective enemies, the Russians. All we are sure of is that they appear capable of anything, and therefore we must be ready for anything.

Having a draft law on the books sounds like a pretty cheap form of insurance against trouble. It's doubtful there are any better bargains in security to be had.

Gen. 31:53 (Moffatt); 27:35—36; 32:24—30
GOD FADING OUT

How has God faded out of the mind of this age? Well, the age, like thoughtless children, believed that the toyland of material wealth was a sufficient world; then God faded out, smothered by preoccupation. As a prosperous New Yorker and his wife came to the small town where they had grown up, he said to her complacently, "Well, that's where we came from, dear." And she replied with an unexpected answer: "Yes, and I am just wondering where we got to." She felt the emptiness amid the plenty.

Professor Summer put it this way: "I never consciously gave up a religious belief. It was as if I had put my beliefs into a drawer, and when I came again to look for them the drawer was empty."

The thing has happened to this generation that happened to the three generations of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Jacob could say, "my father's God, the God of Abraham, the Awe of Isaac." (Genesis 31:42, Moffat.) God was God to Abraham; he had ventured forth with Him, his "Friend." He was intimate and firsthand and real. But in the next generation God was not "the God of Isaac," but only the "Awe of Isaac." He had faded and become secondhand. Still Isaac stood in "Awe" of his father's God. In the third generation—in Jacob—the result of this gradual fading of God began to be shown in the decaying morals of Jacob; moral rottenness appeared. He stole his brother's birthright. He was ready to take the main chance without regard to God.

The same things have happened with us: Our forefathers had a firsthand experience with God through the Evangelical Revival. The next generation clung to the Church for their fathers' sake, but God was only the "Awe"—the afterglow of a fading faith. The third generation is reaping the result of a fading faith which is producing decaying morals and a decaying civilization. Our loss of God is working out in moral decay. We are going to pieces morally, for we have gone to pieces religiously. We have lost God and have thus lost the basis of morals. Jacob met God on Jabbok's banks in his midnight wrestle and emerged a new man. Unless we, like Jacob, find a moral renewal in finding God, we are done for.

O God, I know that with the loss of Thee some chord has dropped out of my symphony. Life has lost its music; but now I see further. I see that I have no basis for action, no moral world that makes sense without Thee. I must find Thee again, as Jacob did. Amen.

Hormones Have Many Uses In Fighting Human Ailments

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Writer for NEA Service

A hormone is a chemical substance which is produced in some organ or gland inside the body. Hormones are emptied directly into the blood stream and carried to other parts of the body where they produce some definite action.

Among the better known glands which produce hormones are the thyroid in the neck, the pancreas and adrenal glands in the abdomen, the pituitary in the head, and the sex glands.

The hormone of the thyroid has been available in crude form as thyroid extract for many years. Although the pure chemical has also been discovered, the crude extract is still generally used.

Stopping Diabetes

The principal hormone of the pancreas is called insulin. When the secretion of this hormone is absent or insufficient, a person has diabetes. Insulin obtained from animal pancreas can be used. The discovery of insulin has prolonged the life of hundreds of thousands of people with diabetes.

The adrenal gland which lies next to the kidneys contains two hormones. The hormone obtained from the adrenal cortex is of value in Addison's disease, which comes from insufficient secretion of this part of the gland. Another hormone from the adrenal medulla is called epinephrine or adrenalin. This is useful to shrink the mucous membranes in colds and sinus trouble and to contract blood vessels and slow up bleeding.

The pituitary gland, which lies at the base of the brain, secretes at least two hormones. One of them acts on certain kinds of muscles and is used extensively in childbirth. The other has a great deal to do with growth. Over-activity of this portion of the gland is believed to be responsible for certain disturbances of growth such as it present in the so-called human giant, a condition called gigantism.

I Love My Doctor

By Evelyn Barkins

Copyright by Evelyn Barkins
Published by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: John and I eloped several months ago. He opened his doctor's office in our four-room apartment. We waited and finally got our first patient. And during this time we found many adjustments to make. Financial and otherwise, in our individual lives.

XXII

AS time went on, other and more intricate "bust the bank" problems reared their nasty heads too. Apparently, as I quickly learned, while a mutual love of Bach and a kindred loathing of Gertrude Stein may make the genesis of a very satisfactory courtship, they do not necessarily insure a fine marriage. In wedlock, it is the big things that count most, like: "Why aren't the shirts back yet from the laundry?" "What happened to the $3.00 for the refrigerator?" and, "Fish again? Oh Heavens!"

Money (that ugly word!) is the root of much unhappy connubial disorder. The original difficulty probably arose because many men labor under the misapprehension that their financial support is the pivotal point of the union, and regard their limited contributions to the family exchequer the way most people look upon their own philanthropy to the displaced persons of Europe. The fallacy is as obvious as the smell of a rotten egg. Any man who honestly adds up the housekeeping, housecleaning, hostessing, humoring, and companioning services he gets from a wife should realize that he's getting it all for less than whole-sale, and what's more, should be honored to pay. There is no doubt about it: marriage must have been invented by a man.

When I was first married, my mother suggested that John give me a regular allowance each week for my own expenses, or else keep one for himself, and let me pilot us by the bank. Either idea, she insisted, was solid marital principle, and this is unfortunately true. Many husbands and wives abandon community planning completely when the Yankee dollar is involved, and proceed strictly on the political doctrine of "To the victor belongs the spoils," like two hungry dogs scrapping for the same bone.

"I don't like it," said John, when I told him "Whatever money we managed to get is not mine or yours, but ours. If marriage is a partnership, why shouldn't it extend to the partnership property? Why should either one of us be rationed, with the other in a position to dole out little extras like a special handbag for you, or a humidior for me? My wallet," he said, "with a final flourish, 'is yours.'"

BUT the principle, thus installed, remained. Its subsequent success, moreover, has often made me doubt those popular tales of feminine extravagance that dot our current fiction. Only a lady on an allowance, without any notion of just what the jackpot behind her is, will recklessly succumb to each new dress that she sees, or fall victim to each new hat. The average American wife, if entrusted with the family funds, is as careful of her charge as a hen sitting on an egg. No grandiose tipping, no highest-priced entrees on the menu (peculiarly male offenses) are ever tolerated; and frankly, it is my conviction that if any woman ever got put in the White House, this country would not only balance its budget, but have a beautiful nest egg besides.

Another treacherous area in marriage involves personal temperament.

John and I had our own No-Man's Land. It was astounding to discover, for instance, in fairly quick time, that John, who was a vigilant Paul Revere and Jack Dalton rolled into one where his medical practice was concerned, was "What you can do tomorrow, never do today," otherwise. This male creed, which resulted in doorknobs that were rarely replaced, suits that never got to the tailors until they were beyond reclaim, and pictures that were tardily hung, was not very endearing to my own mind, whose motto was, "A stitch in time leaves you free tomorrow."

There was also the seemingly small, but to me, all-important matter of going to sleep. Simple, humdrum business, you may think, but not for us. By habit and inclination, I soon discovered, that whereas it invariably took me 30 or more minutes to drift off; for John a pair of pajamas and a comfortable bed acted like an overdose of morphine.

PSYCHIATRISTS, as I am well aware, have some fancy labels to attach to both states of mind, but naturally, these were of no help to either of us. Whether a particular mental disorder is traced to a great grandmother's dislike for green apples, or a red balloon in a frustrated childhood, the curative value is almost nonexistent; first, since there is no actual standardized treatment available, and second, since if the sufferer had the necessary will power to overcome the complex by mere analysis and suggestion, he probably wouldn't have developed it in the first place.

The difficulty in synchronizing our sleeping habits was further complicated by my desire to rehash the day's events, like a courtroom summation, before retiring. John's sleeping grunts, on the few occasions when I tried this "man to man" talk, were definitely incapable of passing for conversation, and I found, to my disgust, that I was delivering an unappreciated Shakespearean soliloquy.

"Why don't you just go to sleep like I do?" he asked, finally, when I complained about having to stay up alone in the dark.

"I can't," I said. "I told you that I never could."

"It's easy," John answered smugly. "Just close your eyes, and that does it. Soft bed, closed eyes, and the rest comes like a conditioned reflex."

"You're a brute," I groaned, and turned away.

Better Admit Ma Has 'Brains, or She'll up And Show You, Pop

The Smith family has lost a full-time homemaker—but they've been asking for it for a long time.

Mama finally got herself a job—and she loves it. Aand why not?

For almost 15 years she put all of her time and energy into the job of homemaking. And she kept telling herself it would work out fine. After all, that was the most important job she could do. She could use her brains and education running a house as well as she could running an office—which is what she did before her marriage.

But Mrs. Smith got little satisfaction out of the job. "I could take it," she says, "so long as it was only Bill who took such an amused attitude toward a woman's mentality he finally got me to feeling I couldn't add up a string of figures or make a decision he couldn't have made better. And he just assumed I couldn't understand anything about his business and so never talked to me about it.

Henry C. Garman, dairyman, sold his farm of 140 acres two and a half miles north and east of Sedalia, to J. H. Butler, a Saline county farmer. The sale did not include stock and farm implements.

Sedalia had a fire loss of $9,403 during the year 1909 according to a report of Fire Chief Henry Willis to the city council. The report showed it to be $27,275 less than in 1908.

Bell Hutchison disposed of the fixtures and stock of goods of the Sedalia Hardware and Grocery company, 318-320 South Ohio avenue, to J. N. Shannon of Fredonia, Kas.

For Ambulance Service, Ph 8

"But when young Bill started treating me in the same superior fashion I figured I had had enough.

"So without saying a word to anybody I got myself a job. I told the family at dinner. And you should have seen the amazement on all their faces. Old Mom who couldn't do anything but keep house landing a job for herself!

Let This Be A Lesson

"And I love it," says Mrs. Smith. "What's more I'm going to keep it. Not so much for the pay check, which is rather ego-building in itself, but for the wonderful feeling that I really do have a fairly good brain which I can use."

There are a lot of families like the Smiths who eventually lose their full-time homemaker because there is so little satisfaction in the job.

That's a warning to other families. If you want Mama to be satisfied with her job, see to it that she gets some recognition and appreciation.

If you're the husband in the family, don't treat her like a well-loved halfwit—just because she is a woman and a homemaker.

And if you're a child in the family, don't get the idea that Papa has all the brains.

It may make Mama determined to get out and show you all just what she can do.

President Truman's "State of the Union" message to congress is filled with references to the grace and power of God, to religious ideals, to freedom of worship and to the divine command that men love one another.

By strange chance the Moscow Journal of Science and Life gives what in effect (though not actually) is the Communist answer to the President. The magazine publishes an article saying how many people in the U.S.S.R. continue to believe in God, and calling for education of the masses in the spirit of atheism. The Moscow writer declares the struggle against religious prejudices is one of the forms of the struggle for Communism.

There we have presented in succinct form the pro and con of one of the fundamental points of conflict between Communism and democracy. Indeed it may be that the outcome will pivot on this point of atheism versus religion.

The fight over this issue is daily becoming hotter.

I return to the question of religion again in our column not only because of its importance, but because my mail from many parts of the country indicates deep interest in the subject. I get vigorous letters from both sides of the fence—from believers, and from dyed-in-the-wool atheists whose mildest language is: "Come, come, now Mac, no more of this bunk about religion."

The point of course is that aggressive dictatorships don't thrive on religion. As Communism puts it, religion is the opiate of the masses. It was precisely for this reason that Hitler tried to destroy religion in Germany. Among the documents found by the allied troops in the official German archives in Berlin was one which declared that Christianity was the greatest enemy of Nazism.

Hitler concentrated his main effort on the children on the basis that "just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined." It's harder to change the beliefs of the grown-ups; you have to catch 'em young. I saw a good deal of Germany just before the war, and the hold Hitler had on the young folk was amazing. It was more than that—it was terrifying to those who realized what the Fuehrer had in his evil mind.

Tacit recognition of the importance of working on the young people is seen in a remark in the science and life article. The writer said that even among the youth there can be found churchgoers in Russia. So Communism hasn't reformed all the masses.

However, as I pointed out in a recent column, there is an organized offensive proceeding among the satellite countries of Eastern Europe to eliminate religion. The drive centers on the children and is particularly intense in the schools.

Communism is building, not for today, but for a dozen years hence.

Thus the struggle between the Redism and the churches of various denominations in Eastern Europe is growing more bitter daily. It is an effort on the one hand to re-make the mentality of entire populations, and on the other hand to maintain the spiritual beliefs which have run so strongly through the lives of most of the European nations.

And of course the drive to proselyte among children isn't confined to Europe. We find plenty of it in all countries of the west-

Three of Five Escapees Are Captured

Escaped From The Phelps County Jail Early This Morning

ROLLA, Mo., Jan. 5.—(P)—Three prisoners from Detroit escaped from the Phelps county jail here about 1 a. m. today but were captured five hours later.

The men were caught by a State Highway patrolman.

The jail's two other occupants also made a getaway, presumably on foot. They have not yet been found.

No Jailer On Duty

No jailer was in attendance when the break occurred. Deputy Sheriff James Yergler said it was customary not to have a jailer on duty at that time.

The escapees were discovered by local police about 4:30 a. m. shortly thereafter, the officers learned that an automobile and some cash had been stolen from a garage here.

Those arrested by the patrolman near Union, Mo., were Fred E. Stuhlman, 23, John Edward Miller, 28, and Thomas A. Clark, 32.

The Highway patrol said all three have prisoners records in Michigan and were being held on charges of burglary and larceny stemming from crimes in this area.

Spotted Stolen Car

Sgt. W. R. Montz of the Highway Patrol was notified of the break as he cruised the highways near Union. He spotted a car fitting the description of that stolen in Rolla and gave chase.

Montz said the three were unarmed and offered no resistance. He took them to the Franklin county jail for questioning.

The patrol sergeant said the fugitives told him they escaped by springing the lock of their cell door and that the other two prisoners were still in their cells when they left.

The other two, both from Rolla, were identified as the Wolford brothers, Clarence, 18, and Clyde, 17. They were being held on petty crime charges.

Enters Plea in 'Mercy Slaying'

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 5.—(P)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander today pleaded innocent in a loud voice to an indictment charging first degree murder in the so-called mercy-slaying of an incurable cancer patient.

The state agreed to his freedom pending trial under a continuance of his $25,000 bond with the stipulation that he refrain from medical practice until disposition of the case.

Dr. Sander stood erect and showed no emotion while Court Clerk Arthur S. Healy read the indictment charging the country doctor.

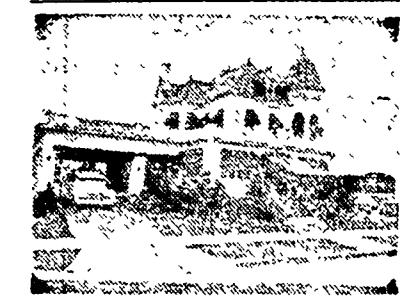

"Feliciously, willfully and of his malice aforethought did inject 10 cubic centimeters of air in close succession into the veins of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59," his cancer patient.

Long before the physician entered the superior courtroom with his wife and two attorneys, 250 spectators had crowded into every public seat.

Fear Too Great Pork Supply

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5.—(P)—The nation's cattle population may reach 90,000,000 by 1952 but increased human population and a rise in per capita consumption of meats will offset the gain, cattle men were told today.

Arthur A. Smith of Sterling, Colo., president of the American National Life Stock Association, told the 53rd annual convention "It seems a little unlikely" that the total cattle population will reach the government prediction.

The thing to fear, Smith said in a speech prepared for the convention, "is an excessive increase in the supply of pork."

The hog population increased approximately 5,000,000 head in the past year, or about 12.1 per cent, while the cattle population of 79,500,000 head showed a gain of 1,000,000 over a year ago, Smith added.

Regarding the 90,000,000 figure by 1952, Smith said "it is questionable if our present forage supply would support that heavy a cattle population. No doubt we would need to further increase the carrying capacity of our ranges by improvement in grasses and a considerable increase in the irrigated pasturage to do so."

Our population is increasing at the rate of nearly 2,000,000 a year, Smith pointed out, and "it would seem that the figures would not be too far out of balance as compared with present per capita consumption."

St. Louis is Short on Coal

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5.—(P)—Officials fear that St. Louis, the nation's eighth largest city, will run out of coal unless production is stepped up.

An appeal was sent to President Truman yesterday by Roscoe C. Hobbs and Scott R. Dekins, members of the Citizens Fuel committee.

"The fuel supply for householders here in St. Louis is critically low," the telegram read. "Within a few days great hardship will occur. Temperature now is 11 degrees above zero, with continued cold predicted."

"Due to curtailed production at coal mines, shipments being received in St. Louis are far below rate of consumption and local fuel yards are practically without coal. It is essential for the public health and safety of this community that you secure full capacity operation of coal mines without delay."

The St. Louis Retail Coal Association also telegraphed an appeal to the President.

James A. Worsham, executive secretary of the association, declared: "We are on a hand-to-mouth basis."

He introduced a resolution asking the Senate to authorize the judiciary to make the inquiry and recommend legislation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(P)—Lawmakers today prepared a chilly reception for Secretary of Defense Johnson when he goes before them to appeal for extension of the draft.

The capitol hill reaction to President Truman's new request for continuation of selective service was summed up by Rep. Short (R-Mo): "Congress can always re-enact the draft if necessary."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the United States considers premature any consideration of recognition of the Chinese Communist government at this time.

17 Months of Hiccupping
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—(P)—Jack O'Leary, who started his 18th month of hiccupping today, thinks maybe he's set a record. But he isn't happy about it.

O'Leary, 24, lies in a room filled with varieties of cure and piled high with letters from friends. The spasms come every second.

"It all started after an operation for a ruptured appendix. Peritonitis set in, and although it was stopped, his doctor says it somehow affected his diaphragm. His weight has dropped from 120 to 80 pounds."

Of chief concern is his inability to retain food for longer than five minutes.

"It's a race between stopping the hiccupps and slow starvation," says his mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary. "We've prayed and prayed. That's about all we have left."

But O'Leary is optimistic: "They'll stop," he says, "but I hope it's soon. You've no idea how tiresome it gets."

Afraid to Give Up to Officers
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 5.—(P)—A blood smeared, wounded convict who led a break from Tucker prison farm admitted today he was afraid to give himself up to officers.

Exhausted and shaking from cold and pain, James Perry Williams, 29, told how he engineered the escape; killed a trusty guard; led officers on a five day chase. He and a buddy were shot and captured last night.

"We stayed in the mud and rain and got to sleep a little bit," Williams related.

"Most of the time," he said, "we were running or hiding to keep away from officers."

He told newsmen from his hospital cot that he and his pal, Jack Rheaurk, 22, Sapulpa, Okla., thought they had escaped prisoners when they hid in an ice coated shack in North Little Rock.

"When they shouted at us I knew it was about over. We didn't fire at the officers when they had us cornered. We wanted to give up but were afraid."

Five Airmen Stranded Here
Five airmen, all under 20 years of age, have spent the past two days in Sedalia, mostly "just waiting," and the other part of the time at the Red Cross office, recruiting office and insurance adjuster's office.

The boys, enroute to their station at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., from their home state of Minnesota have been delayed somewhat, due to a collision of the car in which they were passengers, and a truck, on Missouri avenue Tuesday afternoon. They were returning to duty after spending a 4-day furlough at home. They were due to arrive at their base, midnight, January 3, according to one of the airmen.

Cpl. Lovern Hawbaker, driver of the car in which his buddies were riding, said they telegraphed their commander at the base through the Red Cross, to let him know they would be a little late. At the present time they are waiting for transportation to get back to duty. However, Hawbaker and his buddy, James Current, both of Minneapolis, Minn., said they would remain in Sedalia a couple more days until a settlement was reached of damages resulting from the collision. Hawbaker said it would cost about $300 to repair his auto.

The airmen have been staying at the Milner hotel. Their first night's stay was paid by the American Legion, and the second night by the Red Cross, according to Hawbaker.

Drown After A Reunion

Relatives On Bridge Nearby Unable To Aid Two Brothers

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark., Jan. 5.—(P)—The Christmas reunion of three Georgia and Missouri families ended in the death of two brothers in the turbulent floodwaters of Spring river near here Wednesday.

J. L. Gribble, 20, and Jess Gribble, 23, both of Dalton, Ga., were swept away by the icy water after clinging to tree tops nearly four hours. Four relatives on a nearby bridge were unable to aid them.

Mrs. J. L. Gribble and her daughter, Judy Lee, 14 months, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gribble, Springfield, Mo., made their way to safety of a bridge after their car stalled on a flooded road near Ravenel, 15 miles west of here.

Lawrence County Sheriff Joe Spades said the car occupied by the six people stalled in a water covered road just after crossing the bridge about 4 a. m. today. When the swift water threatened to roll the car off the road, they got out and started for the bridge.

Jesse Gribble was knocked down by the strong current of water which covered the road "two or three feet" and when he called for help, J. L. went to his aid.

The sheriff said both were swept off the road but managed to grab a tree top, where they held on until 8 o'clock, when they disappeared from view of the survivors on the bridge.

Edward, a brother of the dead man, and his wife spent Christmas in Dalton and were driven to their Springfield home by the brothers. Sheriff Spades and Randolph County Sheriff Carl C. Brown cruised the river for several hours in motorboats but were unable to locate the bodies.

What Can The People Believe?

When the anti-trust lawyers in Washington filed their suit to put the A&P out of business, they immediately handed out for all the newspapers of the United States a story giving in detail their "allegations" against this company.

When we published advertisements giving our side of the case, they protested, even though they had made, and have continued to make, in newspapers, in speeches and over the radio these charges that would seriously damage our business, if they were believed by the public.

Every week millions of American housewives patronize A&P stores. Many of them would not want to deal with the kind of people that the anti-trust lawyers represent us to be.

We think we have a right to protect this 90-year old business which has made it possible for millions of American families to get more and better food for their money, which is providing high-wage employment for 110,000 Americans and which is helping millions of farmers to improve the methods of distributing their produce.

No answer by us would be necessary if the anti-trust lawyers were always right.

But they, like all other human beings, can be wrong.

In this case we know they are wrong.

They have been wrong before.

In case after case they made charges against A&P which were proved in court to be utterly without foundation.

We will prove that statement right up to the hilt.

The anti-trust lawyers tell the public that they won a previous anti-trust suit against us at Danville, Illinois. They did.

What they do not tell you is that they brought case after case against the A&P in federal courts all over the United States. Before they won this case they suffered three defeats.

The anti-trust lawyers have told everybody about the time that the courts said they were right. We think you are entitled to know about the three times the courts said they were wrong.

Now we are going to tell you about the first one. In future advertisements we will tell you about all of them.

The Washington Bread Case

In April, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Washington, D. C.

They charged that the A&P, two grocery chain competitors, two labor unions and other good American citizens had conspired to fix the price of bread.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business? They asked millions of people to believe that we were the kind of grocers who would take bread out of the mouths of poor people and make it harder for a wife and mother to feed her family.

These charges were false.

In that case it developed that the A&P and the two competitors who were charged with conspiring with us to maintain high bread prices actually sold bread cheaper than most of the other stores in Washington.

The anti-trust lawyers presented and argued their case. When they were through, Federal District Judge Allen T. Goldsborough ruled that A&P and the other defendants did not even need to put in a defense. He instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Goldsborough said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all.

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

So here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against the A&P, in support of which, in the words of the court, they did not have "any evidence at all."

This was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made charges against the A&P which the courts said were not true. In future ads we are going to tell you about these other suits. We are not going to duck, either. We are going to tell you about the criminal suit that the anti-trust lawyers won at Danville, Illinois.

The anti-trust lawyers say that they are not attacking "bigness" or efficiency. They have to say that because the courts have decided that "bigness" and efficiency and selling at low prices is not a crime.

But the fact is crystal clear that they only brought their bread suit against the big companies and against the companies that sold good bread at the lowest prices; just as in this current suit they are attacking a big company that sells good food cheap.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

Learn These Important Laws
By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

As you know, John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and I consult each week for material for my Canasta articles. I keep telling you that he is one of the greatest card players in the country and the greatest Canasta player. Just recently Mr. Crawford's actions spoke louder than my words. He won the world championship masters mixed pair title for the second straight year, playing with Mrs. Margaret Wagar of Atlantic, Georgia.

His record in this event is rather phenomenal. He finished first in 1945, third in 1946; second in 1947 and first in 1948 and 1949.

We are pleased to tell you that the National Canasta Laws Commission, which was formed at the suggestion of Mr. Crawford and myself, has adopted the Canasta laws of the Regency club of New York. These laws have now been published with the commission's endorsement.

As Mr. Crawford and I are both members of the Canasta Laws Commission, we can assure you that there will be no changes in the Canasta laws during 1950.

Today we want to take a little time to explain a few important laws.

Penalty Cards
The official laws definitely specify that there are no penalty cards in two-handed Canasta. For example, suppose that your score is over 3,000 points and therefore your minimum meld requirement is 120. You meld 3 aces and a deuce and 3 kings. You or your opponent discover that your meld adds up to only 110. In four-handed Canasta all of these cards would be penalty cards and you would have to leave them face up on the table.

However, in two-handed Canasta you have no partner to gain illegal information from your insufficient minimum meld and you have not taken advantage of your opponent by showing him 7 of the cards in your hand. As a matter of fact your penalty is that he knows 7 of your cards, so you simply pick up and put them back in your hand.

Here is another example. Suppose you have several melds down on the table, and require two canastas to go out, suddenly you meld the balance of the cards in your hand and your opponent calls attention to the fact that you have only one canasta — you cannot go out. You are privileged to pick up any or all of the cards that you placed on the table at this turn of play. You may not, of course, take back any that you melded on a previous round.

Bear in mind that this new regulation on exposed cards applies only to two-handed Canasta.

Black Treys
Some players are under the impression that a black trey freezes the pack, the same as a wild card. This of course is not true and Law 20 of the official Canasta law book makes this quite clear. It states that when a player discards a black trey, the next player may not take the discard pile at that turn, but subsequent plays are not affected.

A few days ago I received a letter from a player who said he had held 4 black treys and 3 deuces in his hand. He could meld all of his cards, including these, and go out. He wanted to know if he could count these cards as a canasta of black treys. The answer is no, they would not count for a canasta.

You can meld two black treys and a wild card, or three black treys, or four black treys, but only in the act of going out. Remember, this is the only time that black treys may be melded. And once again, we emphasize they cannot be built into a canasta.

Oldest Children's Program
NEW YORK — (P) — Because it dates back to 1930, "Let's Pretend," Saturday mornings on CBS, classifies itself as the "oldest children's program on the networks." All that time it has been produced and directed by Nila Mack.

The broadcast specializes in dramatizations of children's stories, primarily of the fantasy type.

Suit For Damages As Result Of Fall

Opal Valentine filed a damage suit in circuit court Wednesday against the City of Sedalia.

She alleges that on September 27, 1949 she was injured when she fell because of alleged faulty sidewalks on South Ohio avenue. She asks $3,000 as compensation for personal injuries.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Palmer and Palmer.

"Upside-Down River"

Southeastern Idaho's Wood River sometimes is called the "upside-down river," because at one place it is 100 feet wide and four feet deep, and, in another spot not far distant, it is 100 feet deep in a gorge and only four feet wide.

Boyle's Column

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK—(AP)—Let's dust off our old $4.98 crystal ball, and see what the year ahead has in store for us.

Well, this poor man's philosopher, sees 1950 as a less jittery period than 1949.

The world will argue as much as ever, but it will sink with more confidence into the routines of peace.

Fear of immediate war will abate still more. Nobody will drop an atom bomb in anger, and more people will worry about losing their jobs than fret about being hit by an atom bomb.

Salesmen will have to work a little harder to make their percentages. The slogan "The customer is always right" will regain still more of its old meaning.

Pensions an Issue
Pension protection will be a bigger political issue than tariff protection. Since it's an election year, congress will repeal the taxes on fur coats and baby powder.

Who will carry the elections? The crystal ball fogs up there, but it is safe to bet the Republican party will end the year with more new voters in its fold than new congressmen. So will the Democrats.

Among other things the crystal ball flatly predicts these things—(but you can't put too much faith in a $4.98 mouthpiece):

Bing Crosby's hairline will continue to recede, and Humphrey Bogart will be bitten by a live panda.

MarArthur to Return
General Douglas MacArthur will return to America.

Both Notre Dame and Oklahoma will lose a football game. (Don't write in to say I'm crazy—it's my crystal ball that's talking.)

Don't expect a subway series in baseball. The National League winner: The St. Louis Cardinals (Brooklyn Dodgers second). The American League winner: Boston (Detroit second). The St. Louis Browns will play the full season as usual.

In the heavyweight boxing picture nothing will happen to make anybody forget Jack Dempsey or Joe Louis.

A New Star
Wrestling, on the other hand, will unveil a bright new star—a 357-pound bearded savage from Brazil who eats roaches and wins matches by tying his whiskers around the other wrestlers' throats. He will earn $135,684 during the year—nine times as much as Dr. Albert Einstein.

In the literary world there will be fewer fine religious books on the best seller list, as people in good times often forget the Lord.

The most popular items on the non-fiction list will have such titles as "How to psychoanalyze your boss," or "you don't have to be old to enjoy a pension."

Bulletin news: There will be

12 erroneous reports of Premier Joseph Stalin's death, and he will turn down an American offer of $500,000 for his memoirs. (Winston Churchill will offer to ghost write them for half that.)

Some 12,673 bars will begin putting ten-cent beers in containers that look less like a jigger and more like a real glass.

Television will continue to frighten the rest of the entertainment world by its epochal growth. But commercial color television—like the rainbow—won't be ready to come inside the home. Its programs will grow better.

Stock Market Bullish

The stock market? Bullish most of the way.

President Truman will grow a mustache during a Key West vacation, but shave it off before the fall campaigns.

That's what the crystal ball says—and you can believe it or buy your own ball.

For the rest of it, life will be pretty much the mixture as before for the average man. He'll remember 1950 as a fine year, and if he behaves himself, he shouldn't feel much more than 12 months older by 1951.

Bride Fatally Hurt In Car Accident
BOONVILLE, Mo., Jan. 5—(AP)—Mrs. Bertha Mae Walker, 17, a bride of two months, was injured fatally Wednesday in a motor car accident.

The car, driven by her husband, Samuel W. Walker, 26, Franklin, Mo., plunged into a creek west of here. He told the highway patrol he had been forced off the road by another car. Walker escaped injury.

Damage Slight As Autos Collide
A 1949 Ford sedan driven by Lee Donohoe of 1903 South Stewart avenue and owned by the Yellow cab company and a 1946 Dodge sedan owned and driven by Abe Silverman of 1101 New England drive, were in a slight collision at the intersection of Fifth street and Monticau avenue about 1:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The damage to the Dodge was on the rear right fender. The Ford was not damaged. A settlement was made at the scene of the mishap.

Top Ranking For Irish Grid Squad

Voted as Nation's Outstanding Team Of Any Type Sport

By John Chandler.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Notre Dame football team, undefeated over a 38-game stretch, was voted the nation's outstanding team of 1949 in the annual year-end poll of sports writers by the Associated Press.

Thus, the Fighting Irish pulled a big double for the year, having previously been voted the No. 1 college football team in the final weekly Associated Press poll.

With 95 voting, 25 named Notre Dame as the outstanding team of the country in any sport, professional or amateur. The Irish got 27 second choice votes and three for third, and ran up a total of 213 points.

Runnerup Honors
Runnerup honors went to the New York Yankees, whose crimped fight to the American league championship, then blasted the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series. The Yankees had 149 points.

The University of Kentucky basketball team, NCAA champions last spring, easily took the third honors with 67 points.

Fourth place went to the Philadelphia Eagles, champions of the National Football league for the second straight year, with 24 points. The Minneapolis Lakers, champions of the Basketball Association of America, were fifth.

Following, in order, were the Cleveland Browns four-time winners of the All-America Football conference championship; the Phillips Oilers, AAU basketball champions; the University of Oklahoma football team; the Japanese swimming team and University of San Francisco basketball team, National Invitational champions, tie for ninth; and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Other Votes Given

Other teams receiving votes were the Boston Red Sox, U. S. Ryder cup golf team, University of California crew, Boston Braves, the E&B Restaurant bowling team of Detroit; St. Louis University basketball team, Brooklyn Dodgers, Army football team, U. S. Davis cup tennis team and the Oklahoma A&M football team.

Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' outfielder, was voted yesterday the outstanding "comebacker" of 1949. The sore-heeled flycatcher, who missed half the campaign, then returned to help lead the Yankees to the pennant, nosed out the Yankee team as a whole for the honor.

• Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Warning to the Phillies: Branch Rickey may have designs on one of your pitchers. . . . That conclusion could be far-fetched, especially since Branch "withdrew" the word Phillies from his discussion and made "any club in that situation" the subject of his story about six auger holes. . . . The story, if you haven't heard it, concerns a gent with a bin full of grain and six holes in the bottom of it. He got five patched cheaply, but it cost him plenty of dough to plug No. 6. . . . Sometimes the Rickey sales talk makes it a portrait — a real masterpiece minus one eyebrow—which had to be completed at great expense. . . . Here's how the discussion went:

Verse And Accompaniment

Reporter: "Do you have any deals on the fire?"

Rickey (thoughtfully): "The fire is built. I don't know whether they're on it. I hope it doesn't go out."

Reporter: "Do you still want to deal for that one more solid pitcher you mentioned before?"

Rickey: "I'm in a terrific mood for it."

Branch Rickey, Jr. (in background): "That's double talk. It's the first I've caught today, but that's real double talk for you."

Reporter: "Don't you think the Phillies are an improved club?"

Rickey: "They certainly are. (Pause) What the Phillies need is to plug that sixth auger hole." He stops again, looks around, rumples his hair, expecting somebody to ask the meaning of that Dizzy Deanish reference. Somebody does.

Rickey, Jr. (sotto voice): "Don't forget the eyebrow."

Rickey, Sr. tells the story, drawing the obvious parallel with a ball club which needs one more good player in a certain position to have a championship lineup. . . . He concludes: "Even if he has to pay $200,000 for that man, he's worth it. I think he should pay it."

He pauses dramatically and Rickey, Jr., mutters: "Buy Olmo and you're all set."

Unhearing, Branch Sr. delivers his punch line: "And I've got the very man they ought to have."

The gathering dissolves in laughter and only a few hear Branch add: "I'm in the same position myself. The pitcher I want might only be worth $15,000, but I'd pay plenty for the right man." The Phillies have pitchers, some of them very good. If one happens to be the man Rickey wants, it's going to be hard to avoid dealing with him.

Three Grid Greats Meet

Red Grange, football great of yesteryear, meets two top stars of today at Jacksonville, Fla. said the Cardinals are the club somebody has to beat. "They're a tremendous team and they're producers." (That, interpolated B. R. Jr., is our propaganda line this year) . . . If Jim Russell carries out his threat to retire, Brooklyn won't demand Luis Olmo back: "It's a question of what Boston wants to give up, not what I want." . . . Peewee Reese's injury "affected his feeling of abandon in his play" as well as his batting average, said Junior: "It just proves he's a .330 hitter."

Grid Seniors Decide Not to Join Pro Ranks

Many 200 Pounders Claim They Are Too Small to Play Pro

By F. T. MacFeely

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Professional football's freshman crop next fall won't include many of this year's best-known college seniors.

It would take mighty strong inducement to change the mind of Wade Walker, All-America tackle from Oklahoma, for one.

"I'm just too small," the 210-pounder amended. "They would use me at defensive end, and I'd get beaten to a pulp."

Walker is hardly a fellow you'd describe as small. Nor is 220-pound Harold Otterbach, Wisconsin tackle who figures even he isn't big enough for pro circles.

"Even Tonnemaker, here, is a little fellow compared to those pros," Otterbach contended.

Might Join Pros

The Tonnemaker he referred to is 240-pound Clayton Tonnemaker of Minnesota, All-America center. He's as big as a whole housing project. You know he could hold his own in any company, and he admitted he might consider a pro offer.

"It depends on what club I can get with," Tonnemaker said.

Those big boys thought being a professional football player was a job for a mighty big man. Then up came Eddie Lebaron of the College of the Pacific.

Little Fellow Considers

The little fellow with the winning grin and gentle manner allowed he might try a little flims in professional circles—if he gets an opportunity. Though he weighs only 160, Lebaron is a footballer.

Kansas State Forwards Line up, Break on Set Out-of-Bounds Play

By Jack Gardner

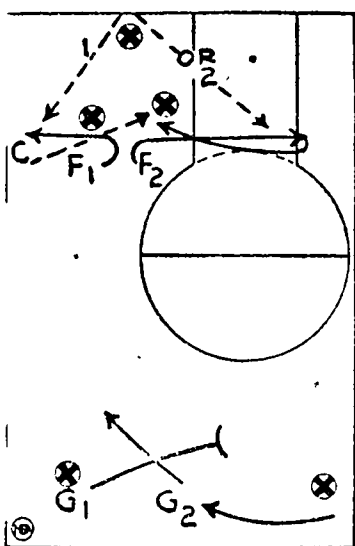

Kansas State Coach

MANHATTAN, Kas. — Having possession out-of-bounds and under the basket being attacked, Kansas State's forwards, F1 and F2, line up for the set play shown in the accompanying diagram.

On a signal from the center, who is off the court, they fake as if to cross, spread toward the sidelines. The center passes to whichever one is open, to F1 in the diagram. F2 immediately comes back into the basket area for a quick pass from F1, who then cuts off F2 for a return pass if F2 isn't open for a shot from under the basket. The pass may be a safety pass out to G2, who cuts off the screen set by G1.

The center moves under the basket after passing to be in a good rebound position. G1 stays back for defensive balance.

As a variation, F1 and F2 may cross to set up the play.

A Scramble For Court Supremacy

St. John's Squad Was Voted No. 1 Quintet of Nation

By Murray Rose

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—St. John's of Brooklyn today held an early edge over a large field in one of the most wide open scrambles ever for national collegiate basketball supremacy.

The Redmen of Brooklyn, with a 12-1 record, were voted the No. one quintet of the country in the first of the Associated Press' weekly polls on the top teams in the sport.

Second place went to Kentucky's young, improving Wildcats, who have lost only to St. John's. The Wildcats rebounded to down Villanova and Bradley, two strong clubs, and win the Sugar bowl tourney.

Received 696 Points

St. John's, which was knocked out of the unbeaten class Tuesday night by a blazing CCNY team, 54-53, received a total of 696 points in the voting of 88 sports writers and sportscasters around the country. Points were awarded on a 10-9-8-7, etc., basis for 1 to 10 selections.

The other members of the first ten are No. 3—Bradley 485 points; 4—Long Island U., 470 points; 5—Indiana, 418 points; 6—Holy Cross, 315; 7 — North Carolina State 232; 8—Duquesne, 141; 9—UCLA, 140; 10—Minnesota, 102.

Second Ten Teams

The second ten include these teams: 11—St. Louis 99; 12—Missouri 94; 17—Oklahoma 64; 20—Kansas State 45.

Others included Oklahoma City U. (11-23), 39, and Oklahoma A. & M. (7-2) 28.

Unbeaten Holy Cross ranked sixth in the poll wrecked Harvard last night, 102-71, for their tenth straight victory.

Unranked DePaul again demonstrated its hex against Oklahoma A&M on the Aggies' home court at Stillwater. DePaul edged the Aggies, 41-40. DePaul has yet to lose to the Aggies at Stillwater.

St. Louis Ranked Eleventh

Kentucky, ranked second, opened its Southwestern conference season with an easy 87-55 conquest of Mississippi State. St. Louis, ranked 11th, whipped Detroit, 56-41, in a Missouri Valley conference fray.

Arkansas, Rice and Southern Methodist won in the Southwest conference while Oregon State squeaked by Washington State, 34-33, in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference.

Arkansas laced Texas, 60-51; Rice walloped Texas Christian, 80-61 and SMU nudged Texas A&M, 53-48.

Great Comeback By DiMaggio

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Joltin' Joe DiMaggio, the fellow who got up from a sick bed to lead the New York Yankees to the American League pennant, made sports' greatest comeback in 1949.

Twenty of 93 sports writers who answered the Associated Press' annual year end poll, voted for DiMaggio, who did not even get into a league game until June 28.

The joltin' barely nosed out the Yankee team as a whole, which clinched the pennant on the last day of the season after trailing the Boston Red Sox by a full game two days before the end of the campaign.

Nineteen writers nodded toward the Yanks, but the process many of them noted that they were voting for the team with a big assist to DiMaggio, to make the Yankee comeback monopoly almost complete. Manager Casey Stengel received six votes to tie for third place with the Louisiana State football team.

DiMaggio, whose injured heel kept him on the sidelines almost half the season, caught the fancy of the country when he stepped into the Yankee lineup on June 28. He slammed a home run, then followed it with two the next day and another the following day—all against the feared Boston Red Sox.

Joe finally finished with a batting average of .346 for 76 games. This included 94 hits, 14 of which were home runs.

Cage Games at S-H Friday Night

Sacred Heart volleyball and basketball teams will meet the Houstonia teams Friday evening, January 6 at Sacred Heart gymnasium. This is the first game with Houstonia so far this season. This is Sacred Heart's first game since before Christmas.

Coach Nichols reports that he is well pleased with the fine showing in recent basketball practices and the game Friday should be an exciting one.

Probable lineup for the "B" team: Jett, Fall, Zoernig, Labus and Brosch.

Probable lineup for the "A" team: Labus, Paxton, Mehl, Hodges and Bus.

The volleyball teams will play at 7:30 o'clock followed by the "B" and "A" basketball games.

Sooner-Irish Rumor Cleared up by Coach

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson closed the door last night on rumors the University of Oklahoma Sooners had arranged football dates with Notre Dame.

Wilkinson said on arrival from New Orleans he had not talked to Notre Dame officials in several months. He said it would be impossible to play Notre Dame until 1952.

"We have one open date in 1952 and only two in 1953," Wilkinson said.

"I have written 10 or 12 schools in every section of the country regarding games, including Notre Dame, but nothing is definite."

Why Locusts Fly a Hairline
LONDON—(P)—Locusts have queer short hairs on their heads which give them directions when flying. This discovery is reported in "Nature," the official British science journal, by T. Wers-Mogh, of Gentofte, Denmark. The hairs are queer because they do not vibrate in the wind as do other hairs on a locust. These merely bend. Something in their structure prevents fast waving motions. By the angle at which these hairs bend a locust knows how much he is turning away from a straight line. When he is flying straight the wind bends the hair straight back.

It has been estimated that a family of five needs about 3000 pounds of fruits and vegetables a year.

B-6 VITAMIN SUPPLEMENTS PROTEINS
NEW YORK—(P)—Maybe humans who eat a lot of meat, eggs and milk should be sure that they also get enough vitamin B-6. This vitamin, pyridoxin, is found in vegetable fats, whole grain cereals, legumes and yeast.

Rats which didn't get enough B-6 while eating a lot of proteins developed a scaly skin trouble, and didn't live as long as those eating foods with only a little protein, Edward C. DeRenzo and L. R. Cerecedo of Pennam university reported to the American Chemical Society. If these results apply to humans, then people who eat a lot of protein should also get enough B-6 to maintain normal health, they said.

Beef Tasters End With Tongues in Checks
DAVIS, Calif. — (P) — You would think that 26 experts all sitting around tasting roast beef would develop definite opinions on the subject. However, that many at the College of Agriculture recently sampled rib roasts from three different kinds of cattle and said at the end that it was a good dinner. Competing for taste and tenderness were rib roasts from Hereford, Brahma and Braford cattle. The last is a crossbreed.
